Kristy Eagan represents clients in complex commercial litigation across New York and New Jersey, with over 10 years of experience handling high-stakes disputes. She has successfully litigated civil RICO, insurance fraud, labor law, personal injury, and insurance coverage disputes on behalf of insurance carriers, developers, and general contractors in both federal and state courts.

Known for her strategic approach and thorough advocacy, Kristy guides complex cases from initial investigation through appellate proceedings. She is particularly recognized for her work in civil RICO and insurance fraud litigation, helping clients navigate challenging disputes and achieve favorable outcomes.

In law school, Kristy served as an editor on the Fordham Urban Law Journal, received the Student Author Award, and interned for Magistrate Judge Debra Freeman in the Southern District of New York and for the Moreland Commission to Investigate Public Corruption. Kristy is also admitted in the Eastern District of New York.
